DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as based on a disclosure, which is not enabling. The polycarbonate polymer critical or essential to the practice of the invention, but not included in the claim(s) is not enabled by the disclosure. See In re Mayhew, 527 F.2d 1229, 188 USPQ 356 (CCPA 1976). The composition comprises the phosphorylated silane only.

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter, which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 1-8, 12-16 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

5. Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being incomplete for omitting essential elements, such omission amounting to a gap between the elements. See MPEP § 2172.01. The omitted elements are: polycarbonate or polyester carbonate resins.

6. Other polymers include any other polymer under the sun (starch, cellulose, sugar etc.), which are not mentioned in the instant specification. Furthermore, besides having the same problem in the second part of the claim, one of ordinary skill in the art would not know which polymer additives are conventional and which are unconventional.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

7. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

8. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by JP-2001-247582.

9. The examiner who does not speak or read Japanese accepts the conclusions of the International Search Report without any reservations. Applicants' claim is not novel.

10. Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Synthesis of phosphorus and silicon containing monomers and oligomers with end phosphonate and phosphate groups by Troev et al.

11. The reference shows applicants' claimed phosphorylated silane. The claims are directed to a composition comprising said silane only.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

12. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 1714

13. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

14. Claims 1-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kodama et al. 3,699,188, Plueddemann 4,093,641 or Doring et al. 6,111,002, in view of Tacke et al. 5,025,065, El Sayed et al. 5,576,377 or Brown et al. 6,753,365.

15. Kodama et al. disclose phosphorosilicon compounds in claims 1-3 and polyesters in column 5, line 22. Plueddemann teaches silylalkyl esters of phosphorus in claims 1-11. Doring et al. recite silicon compounds in claim 3, concentration in column 7, lines 1-5 and polyesters in column 2, line 25. Tacke et al. show the equivalence of polycarbonates and polyesters in claim 1, El Sayed et al. prove the same in claim 1, while Brown et al. exhibits the same equivalence in claim 25. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art; at the time the invention was made, to add the phosphorus-silicone composition of the primary references to polycarbonate or polyester carbonate, since they are equivalent to the polyesters claimed by the secondary references.
